

DIMC Fact Sheet

Mission

Dog Is My CoPilot provides the long distance air transport where ground transport makes no sense; from the organizations with high euthanasia rates to those that will never put down a healthy animal.

Purpose

Shelters with too many animals are turning to transport programs like Dog Is My CoPilot (DIMC) to help rescue pets at risk of euthanasia because of overcrowding. Relocation programs like that of what DIMC is providing are key to saving adoptable animals. By flying dogs and cats out of areas where they are at risk of euthanasia due to overpopulation, animal passengers find a forever family, and more shelter space is made available for animals who might otherwise have remained at large or been euthanized. In this manner, every animal DIMC transports saves two; the one that we save and the one that takes it's place.

What We Do

DIMC saves the lives of thousands of shelter animals and maximizes the likelihood that they will be adopted by flying them from areas with overcrowded animal shelters, to locations with animal rescue organizations that have space and where the chances of adoption are greater. We work with municipal animal shelters and nonprofit animal rescue organizations to coordinate flights.

Founded

DIMC was founded in 2012 by Peter Rork, an M.D in Wyoming, and Judy Zimet, an attorney in Arizona.

Facts

- We have flown over 8,000 animals to safety.
- There is no charge to the animal welfare organizations for whom DIMC flies.
- Flights are funded by public donations and grants.
- DIMC works with municipal animal shelters and nonprofit animal rescue organizations to coordinate flights.
- DIMC flies from 40 to as many as 250 animal passengers on each flight. This keeps costs down and saves more cats and dogs. Routes covered by the Cessna 208B encompass the Rocky Mountain, Southwest, and Pacific regions.
- We fly from our source partnering groups, that are primarily located in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, and California, and deliver the animals to our destination partnering organizations in northern states including Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming

Nonprofit Status - 501(c)(3) Tax-exempt nonprofit donations to Dog Is My CoPilot, Inc. are tax deductible.